THURSDAY, OCT. 3, 1907.

Senator William Alden Smith says his state is for Taft, provided the President will not run again.

Prices are high but watermelons, the circus and roasting ears are plentiful and cheap. There is always something to be thankful for.

Secretary Root is to be royally entertained on his coming visit to Mexico. Should the Mexican Secretary of State decide to return Mr. Root's visit it would bankrupt Mr. Root to return the courtesies shown him, for Mr.
Root is not a rich man.

Admiral Dewey has been telling the newspapers, and through them the public, the reasons why the United States should not give up the Philippines. We don't believe anyone ever seriously supposed that the United States would give up the Philippines.

Governor Folk of Missouri has been telling a vast throng at the Jamestown Exposition that protection is robbery, that as such it is morally wrong and should be abolished. Governor Folk has been suggested as the presidential candidate of the Democracy.
Well, possibly he wouldn't be beaten any worse than Mr. Bryan.

The President has decided to go down south and try his luck at bear hunting once more. The last time he went to that region he got no bears and, in fact, it was out of his failure to do so that the "Teddy bear" sprang into existence. This time he hopes to get a bear or two, even if he does not promote the creation of a new toy.

There is sorrow among the Washington newspaper men because the President is not to return permanently to Washington until the last of October. There never was a better news-maker than President Roosevelt and even the politicians who help to swell the news volume stay away from Washington when the President is not there.

It is very difficult to understand why so much fuss should have been made over the fact that Vice President Fairbanks served cocktails at a luncheon at his home in Indianapolis. At his home in Washington he serves cocktails, claret and champagne at every dinner he gives and he gives one almost every night during the session of Congress.

Everyone who longs for the day of international peace will be keenly disappointed over the failure of the Hague Convention to adopt Secretary Root's beneficient scheme for a permanent peace court. The nations will never be willing to submit really important matters to arbitration until they have confidence that the arbitrators will adjudicate the question at issue on its merits and not merely make a compromise. And no court can be relied upon to adjudicate international cases on their merits until it is made permanent and is composed of men appointed for life with incomes which make them independent.

Attorney General Bonaparte will recommend in his next annual report some changes in the law which he believes will make the Sherman anti-trust law more intelligible and less difficult of enforcement. The President will doubtless embody the Attorney General's recommendations in the next annual message to Congress. It is an abstruse subject and one that puzzles the best lawyers, so that if the Attorney General has solved the chief difficulties he will have done his country and his party an incalculable service.

In a recent poll of prominent Republicans all over the country on their choice for Republican presidential candidate, Secretary Taft received 2,512 votes. President Roosevelt was second, with 680 votes; Governor Hughes third, with 660 votes; Cannon fourth, with 281; Fairbanks fifth, with 260, and Cortelyou last, with 42 votes. If the Taft boom continues to grow at its present rate everything will be "cut and dried" before the next Republican convention meets, just as it was three years ago.

The government's prosecution of the Standard Oil Company is progressing steadily. It has thus far revealed the fact that the Standard Oil Company has made profits of $800,000,000 in the last twenty-five years; that it has frequently violated the law and the mandates of the state supreme courts; that John D. Rockefeller owns one-fourth of the stock and that his holdings are worth $109,- 000,000; that his income amounts to over $21 a minute; that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, a sort of legal fiction but actually a part of the real Standard Oil Company, which Judge Landis fined $29,000,000, has been making a profit of 1,000 per cent a year. The government's suit prays the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the real company which owns all the little companies; little by comparison. The suit is being conducted under the Sherman anti-trust law, which was a law when Grover Cleveland was last president. But then, it is always the custom of the Democratic party to talk about things, not to do them. It remained for Theodore Roosevelt, acting on the legal advice of William H.
Taft and Charles J. Bonaparte, to undertake to break up by legal process this great law-breaking monopoly. The Democrats are remarkable "trust-busters" but it is only during their campaigns.

NEW SHORT STORIES

Enforced His Own Law.

John F. Stevens, who threw up the job of building the Panama canal because the climate of the "big ditch" sorely affected his nerves, made his reputation in railroad engineering and knows every branch from running preliminary survey lines to successful operations.

An incident that will illustrate Mr.
Stevens' manner of enforcing orders is told of the time he was in charge of a big construction crew on the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railroad many miles west of Marquette.

There had been no trouble until a "whisky man" set up a rude shack in the camp and opened a saloon. The laborers patronized the new bar so freely that the work was interfered

STEVENS PUT TWO BULLETS THROUGH THE TIN PAK.

with. Stevens ordered the "whisky man" to close up. As the saloon was not on railroad land he had no real authority and the man laughed at his orders.

"When are you going to leave?" Stevens demanded on his first visit to the saloon.

"When I get good and ready," was the answer.

"Well, I'm going now," cried the engineer, as he lighted a short fuse to a huge dynamite cartridge and threw it back of the bar.

He left on a run with the saloon man at his heels. In a few seconds the shack and its contents were spread over several acres.

Then came a man with a tin pack on his back. The pack was retailed to the men. Stevens heard of it and when the traveling saloon came near his tent put two rifle bullets through the tin pack. The whisky gurgled out and the man fled, convinced that at last he was "up against" a real prohibition law.

In Practice.

through the eye of a needle?"

"I don't know, my boy. However, I will say that my lawyers have dragged me through some very small loopholes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

In After Years.

Husband—I had no idea you would accept me the first time I proposed.

Wife—And did you think I would accept the second time?

Husband—Oh, there wouldn't have been a second time.—Chicago

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

He Was Not the Only Husband in the Same Fix.

When an old lawyer who has had no end of experiences meets with one that he declares unique it is sure to be something very much out of the common.

"I had a man come to my office the other day," relates an attorney who has long done business on Griswold street, "to have me make out a deed for a nice piece of real estate that he had just purchased for his wife as a birthday present.
He is a bright business man, had made a good deal in this instance and wanted the papers just as soon as they could be prepared. Full description was afforded by the abstract, and all went swimmingly till I turned to him and asked his wife's name.

"Oh, yes, of course—wife's name —very necessary, to be sure!" and it was plain to be seen that he was sparring for time, while making every effort to bring his memory into play. He had a rush of blood to the face, looked sorely troubled and finally turned his back on me while he looked out of the window as though relief were to be found there.

"Wouldn't that beat you!" he exclaimed, as he turned slowly back.
"I'll be blown if I can recall her name. You see they used to call her 'Pet' when she was a girl at home, and that was her name with me up to two years after our marriage, when I began calling her 'Mamma.' I couldn't tell you her name if it were a capital offense not to know it. S'pose it wouldn't do to just call her 'Pet' in the deed?"

It wouldn't, so he hurried away and in an hour was back, with his wife's full name on a slip of paper.

friends are always running him down."

"Oh, Harduppe can't even dodge

Jones has committed suicide.

Second Reporter—Hurry down his doing it.—Smart Set.

Pertinent Query.

She—There wasn't a dry eye in the room when I finished my pathetic recitation last evening.

He—Indeed! Did everybody leave before you got through?—Chicago News.
